Dot and The Power of Nature

There is this soul who would now be in her 70's. Her nickname is Dot. At the time she was still in her late 60's before Otto and I moved. She fell off her rebellious horse who did not like the saddle she put on him. So he threw her off. She wanted to show off her saddle and this horse did not want it full stop. She was rushed to hospital pumped with medication and surgery and told she would never walk again. They were keeping her confined to 4 walls with all the energies within it. She lives on the top of a hill overlooking the ocean on front and forest behind and is on acres and here she is suddenly in such a depressing place, told all the gloom and doom and fear and negative.

She knows what to do. She knows that what they tell her she won't accept. So she demands she wants to go home. She is told that she will not walk again and that she requires constant care. She wants to go home. They have no choice as her husband and now adult children and grandchildren must support her decision. She wants to go home. She does.

In surrounded nature she draws in the energy. She tells me the energy of nature is so powerfull and that whenever one needs healing, that is what she does. She reminds me constantly whenever I need for whatever reason help nature draw on its energy and you will be amazed.

So she works hard on that. She is bedridden but she wants to be on the armchair. Before you know it within days she starts to walk!!!!!!!!!!!!!! She focuses and then begins to do some things on the property!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Again they tell her she will never walk again.....um well now they say oh but you will never ride again a horse. You will never be able to do that.....

She refuses to listen. She begins to do things that are against anyone who says you cannot. She lifts heavy things, she begins to do weight dancing exercises in the shed where no one is watching. We walked in looking for her and her husband and there she was holding some weights and dancing to some music.

Then not long after she says to me silently don't say anything, I am going to ride again the horse. I believe her. She constantly tells me the nature is the most powerfull healer.

So here she is focused on nature drawing in the energies to heal.....then one day she gets on a horse!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

They say to her, medical and family and friends, she will never walk again.....she does.....she will never ride a horse again.....she does.....she will never be able to this or that.....she does.....and all thanks to going home and being in nature.....she now rides and has another horse and the one that is rebellious she sadly had to give him away. But that is another story.....
